Supply of Multi-functional Devices (MFDs) and Document Solutions, Digital Duplicators, Print Room Equipment & Managed Print Services (MPS)

Ref: Y17035

Sharp is a leading provider of document solutions to schools, colleges and universities. We have over 30 years' experience of working in the education sector, and are currently working with thousands of educational establishments across the UK.

We recognise the issues that you have to overcome when it comes to choosing the right document solutions for your school. We have the knowledge and skills to work with you from the ground up and can tailor our solutions and services to meet your unique requirements.

Sharp understands you need innovative, reliable and affordable solutions that can help in providing an excellent learning experience.

Cut Printing Costs

Sharp can help you optimise your print environment and gain total control of your print fleet, with benefits such as automated reporting on print volumes, costs, users and device performance. Many schools we work with are now enjoying the benefits of significant cost savings.

High Security Standards

Sharp's advanced, multi-layered security solutions safeguard confidential information and restrict MFD access and usage allowing every authorised user total peace of mind. Our MFDs achieved Level 4 for Data Security Evaluation Assurance - the highest evaluation possible for commercially available MFDs.

- The tiltable* control panel provides greater visibility and improved ease of use - even from a wheelchair.

*Tiltable angle depends on MFD model.

Usability

Sharp MFDs help create a more comfortable, less stressful working environment. User-friendly features allow easy operation for both staff and students:

- Intuitive touch screen controls ensure ready access to high-performance document functions.
- The Home screen can be customised for individual users by programming their most frequently used functions and settings.
- The Enlarge Display mode brings added readability – a range of screen colours and languages can also be chosen.

Sharp believes in helping schools to provide an excellent learning experience. This is why we support so many schools in the UK with devices and solutions that reduce administrative burdens, simplify processes and cut costs.

An Environmentally Advanced Company

To become an environmentally advanced company has represented Sharp's core philosophy since 2004. We are proud to say that nearly all Sharp multifunctional printers carry the respected Energy Star label and hundreds of them have received international awards for their outstanding eco-friendly design.

A recent project allowed our customer to reduce their carbon footprint by 19,000 tonnes of CO₂ per annum by replacing their legacy printers.

Bring Printing Requirements In-House

Whether you are producing individually tailored high quality prospectuses or learning materials in a variety of languages, the comprehensive print and finishing capabilities of our range of colour and black & white MFDs will enable you to produce a wide range of promotional literature and personalised print in-school, with greater flexibility and at a fraction of the cost of using external suppliers.

With low through-life costs and experienced solutions and support teams, we provide a smart new way to manage your print requirements that eliminates unnecessary expense, maximises flexibility and ensures a bespoke print production installation that perfectly matches your needs.

Every product in the Sharp digital printer range delivers exceptional productivity, versatility and stunning image quality. And because they have been designed with on campus print requirements in mind, all these professional features are easy to access and simple to use.

Attentive Onsite Support

Our commitment to outstanding service and customer support sets us apart. You will receive unrivalled support from a company that has an enviable reputation within the industry for outstanding service and customer support delivery.

We are proud of our service standards and work hard to deliver outstanding service to all of our customers. With field based engineers and technicians based all over the UK onsite support is always on hand whatever your query.
